Spotlight: Nick and Sue Bigney, recent move-ins (with children) Catherine, 8; Ivan, 6; Alexei, 4; Nadia, 2 months.

Nick owns and operates with his father, D. M. W. Products, located in Orem. His machine shop makes repair parts for all pharmaceutical packaging machines. Nick also has an interest in his Oquirrh Lakes, Inc., where they do demolition work. Fulfilling a mission for the LDS Church in the Oklahoma Mission, he spent 90 percent of his time in the Arkansas area. It was there his love grew for the country style living.

Nick spent three years at BYU in Pre-Dentistry, before graduating at Utah Technical Community College, in Orem in machine tool technology.

Sue graduated from the BYU with a degree in Bachelor of Science. She taught science, chemistry, physics, and math, at Bingham Jr. High, in Jordan School District. Sue is a qualified home school teacher, teaching the home school program to her children.

Sue served a mission for the LDS Church to Argentina. Her grandmother (Martha Wheeler) was born in Wallsburg. Sue says she feels like she's come home. A warm welcome to the Bigney family.

Money Saving Ideas: Food storage items for January will be pasta. Different pasta items can be ordered from Becky Corner. Further information, call 654-1720.

Save Monday on Batteries this holiday season by buying the alkaline type. While they cost about three times more than general purpose batteries, they can last up to ten times longer. You'll end up paying about 26 cents for each hour a general purpose battery lasts in a typical toy, but only about eight cents an hour for an alkaline battery. (The other type of batteries, "heavy duty" fall the middle; they cost about 18 cents per hour of use.) Using rechargeable batteries can also save you money in the long run — but only for appliances and other products you use frequently.

Church News: Relief Society reminds you of the Homemaking meeting in January, please contact Ranae Park for further information on the wood calendars to be made during the work time.

Beginning in January, each Sister will have the opportunity to serve one another. Your birthday month, you will have the opportunity to choose a gift of service from Thinking Aloud: If you're at all like me, the holiday season is a natural time to reflect on the year that's fast drawing to a close — and a natural time to look ahead. How quickly a year passes by. Perhaps it's cause enough for reflection.

Many, I'm told, feel as I do that one of the special treasures of this made presents, good smelling cooked and baked items to exchange with neighbors and friends, and always lots of music. Music filled the air of our home, whether father sang and played (piano), or we just burst into song accapella. Today, many people are seeing home as a personal haven. What we'd really like is to protect our fragile world of tradition, which is beautiful beyond words. We must take time not only to enjoy it, but to preserve it.

Traditions are established whenever people decide to hand down or continue practices or customs that have developed significance or meaning for them. Besides the usual family traditions developed in our family, when we moved to this community, we've added the tradition of lighting candles Christmas Eve at the town cemetery.

Along with the originators (Gibb family), we enjoy the spirit of remembrance of loved ones who are no longer with us. In a sense, remembering the home we shared at one time in our past. Though we all come from different homes, we can identify with many of the same traditions shared in our homes. One tradition shared by everyone in this Valley is the special light when Santa visits every home. Home, after all, is the one place where we can really express ourselves and be with those we love.

Thanks: LaDean Muir wishes to express, on behalf of her husband Mac, their thanks for all who have shown their love and concern for them at this time of stress. The family is thankful for such good people surrounding them in Wallsburg.

Rodeo: Matt Allred qualified in the Bareback event of High School Rodeo recently. He'll go on to State High School Rodeo Finals held in Heber City in June, 1989. another Sister donating her talent. We encourage all to participate in the Birthday Tree.

Found: Wallsburg Ward Relief Society room, a blue pitcher was found by custodian Velma Ford. Please contact her for return. Also a house key was found. Anyone wishing to claim these items, please contact Velma 654-1710.

Released: Tom and Kim Hicken, Primary teachers. Advanced: Aaron Ceslack, ordained a Deacon.

Sports: Power Tumbling: Participants, Jenny Thompson, Terri Jaques, Kelly and Angie

Midway Wrangler Review

As part of "Safety Month" last month, Stein Stroudt and the Seat Belt Coalition donated $25. Students had to sign a pledge card stating they would wear a seat belt. Then all of the pledges were put in a box and a name was drawn. Christian Duncan was the winner and received the $25 check from Officer Ken Van Wagoner.

The students are currently collecting food and money for Sub-For-Santa. The goal set by the students is to collect five cases of food and $100. To this date the students have collected approximately three cases of food and $20.

Midway staff would like to say thank you to the School Board for all of their support and the $40 donated for a staff Christmas Party.

The Midway Swiss Handbell Ringer Choir will be performing on Thursday, Dec. 15 (tomorrow). They will be playing a selection of Christmas and familiar tunes. They will play from 10-10:30 a.m.

The fourth grade will be performing Hansen and Gretal Dec. 19. There will be two performances. The first at 1 p.m. and the second at 3 p.m.

Mr. Jeff Besendorfer has started his social studies reports. The students were to select a country they were interested in and prepare at least a two page report discussing history, size, population, products, industries, attractions, climate, etc. Also they are to prepare a map and a doll or themselves in native dress. The students are keeping Mrs. Ritchie very busy in the library as they prepare.

Mr. Horner is very proud of the good citizenship demonstrated by the students. He said the pile of Gold Slips are growing and growing and growing.

Central School

Central School has been busy getting ready for their Christmas program. A lot of work has gone into it. Brandy Fox and Brandon Baker begin the program by discussing those things they enjoy about Christmas. Their discussion leads to all kinds of singing, dancing, and other Christmas activities. The whole school is caught up in the spirit of Christmas and participates. We have had a lot of outside help too from parents, who love to help us out.

The invitations were sent home and the programs for the Christmas program are designed and colored by the students. Our students have put a lot of work into this program so don't miss out on what they have to share on Wednesday, Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Wasatch High School auditorium.

This year, one of our writing activities have included letters to Santa Claus. We have included four of them from the second grade. Next week, we will have four more from the first graders.

Dear Santa:

I will leave cookies and milk for you. I want a trampoline for Christmas. Will you leave something for my cat, dog, and bird?

Love, Jessica Baker

Dear Santa Claus:

I want G.I. Joe men for Christmas! I was a nice boy in school today! I like your elves, but I did not see one.

Love, Danny Applegate

Dear Santa Claus:

I want a Snack Shop and a pretty prom maxie and a baby that looks real and a fake pony.

Love, Amie Broadhead

Dear Santa Claus:

I have been a good boy. Will you get me a fake Santa Claus for Christmas?

Your Elf, J. D. Tanner
